

Get the help you need when you need it most.

Our Behavioral Centers of Excellence program* offers you quality, in-network, affordable care.

There is a wide range of behavioral health and substance use treatment facilities across the country. Selecting the right health care facility is an important decision, but knowing which one to choose can be overwhelming, especially when you or a loved one is in critical, immediate need of care. That's why we developed our Centers of Excellence program—to help our customers when it matters most.

We have identified in-network facilities that provide quality, cost-effective care to help you make this important decision. We select facilities based on data, not advertising. For example, our studies show that our Substance Use Center of Excellence facilities have a 50% lower readmission rate than out-of-network substance use inpatient/residential treatment facilities.**

With nationwide locations for adult mental health, child and adolescent mental health, eating disorders and substance use, affordable, quality care is available and closer than you think.
